[0:00 – 0:08]

[0:09 – 0:10]

[0:11 – 0:20]

(The pace picks up and quick shots flit across the screen showing students and academics at work in laboratories, a mechanical arm and 3D printing machines with red lights flashing.)

[0:21 – 0:29]

(Students are seen working on 3D design projects on laptops and mobile phones, before bringing their prototypes to life in a laboratory with the help of the Kuka mechanical arm.)

[0:30 – 0:38]

(We see a white brick wall with a large chrome Swinburne logo, followed by drone footage of grassy steps outside of a university building with students relaxing. Next, we see a zoomed-out view of a lightly wooded park area within the university campus where students sit in groups and walk between classes.)

[0:39 – 0:45]

(Drone footage shows Glenferrie Road, a hub of restaurants, cafes and activities, and the blue and silver Metro train passing through Glenferrie Station.)

[0:52 – 0:57]

[0:58 – 1:04]

(The Swinburne logo is shown embossed in concrete on the side of a university building as students pass by, before transitioning to a zoomed-out view of the entire campus. The Melbourne city skyline is silhouetted in the afternoon sun, not far in the distance.)
